FOLLOWING HIS STEPS

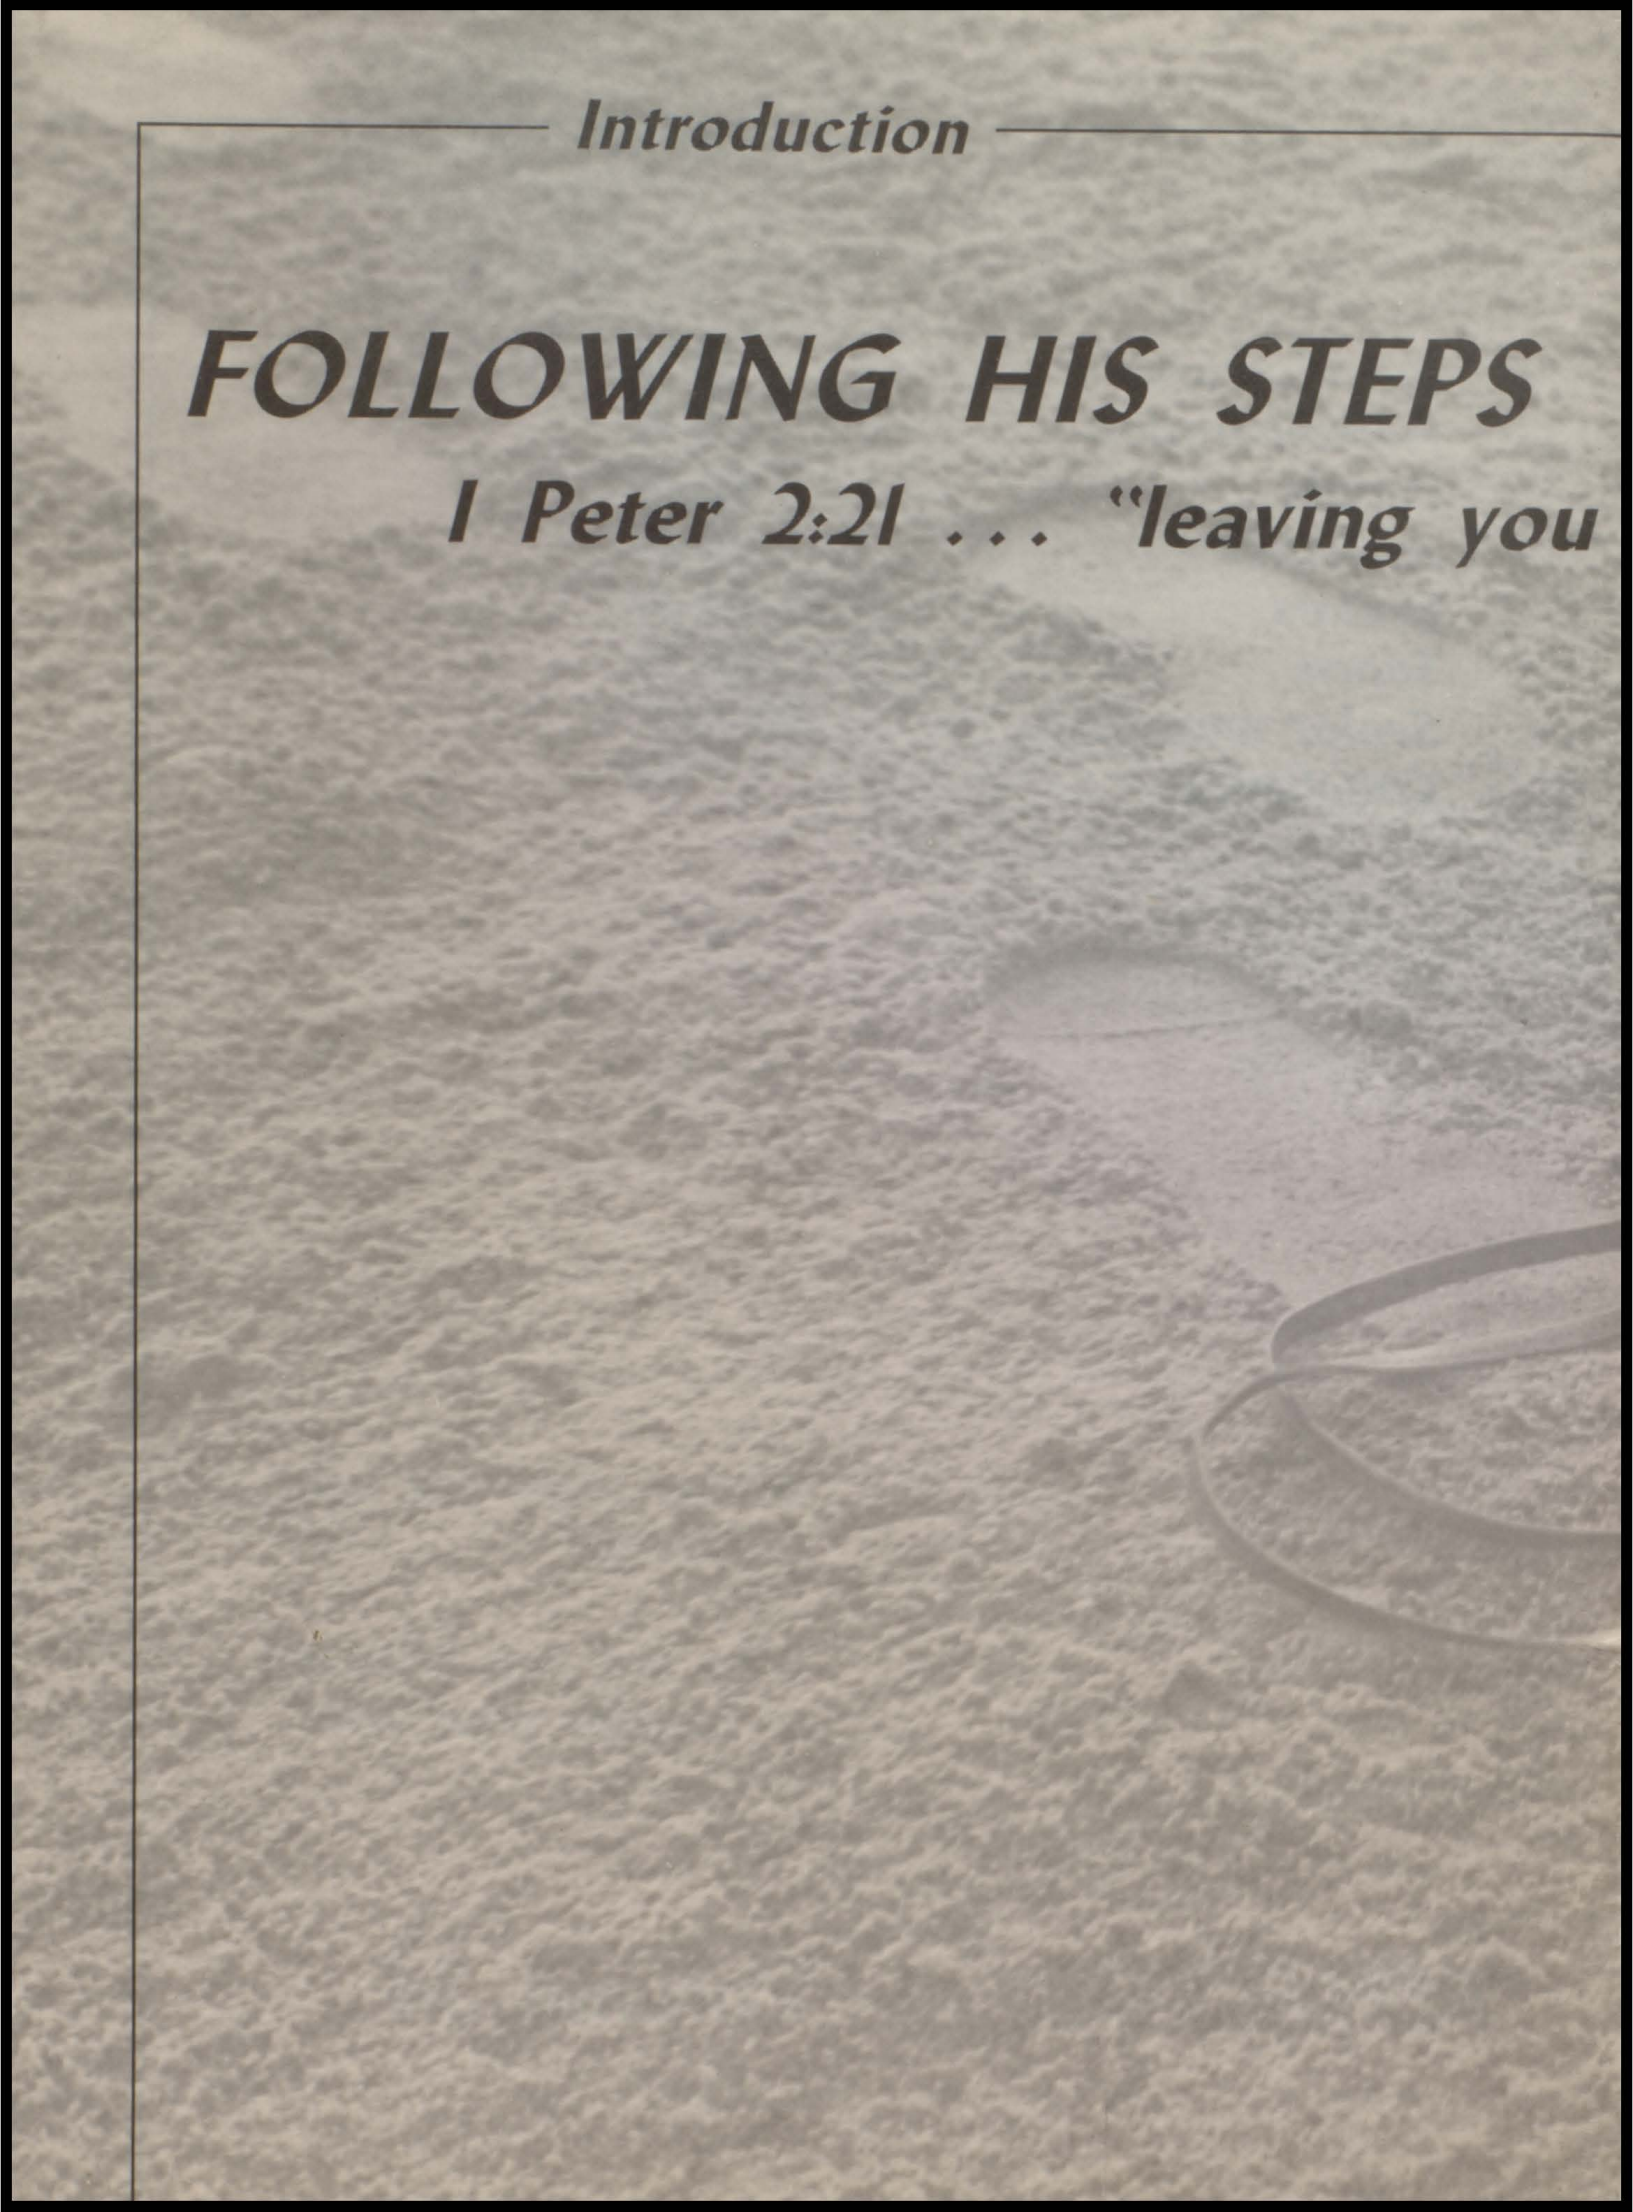
I Peter 2:21 . . . "leaving you



an example for you to follow His steps."

FOOTPRINTS

One night a man had a dream. He dreamed he was walking along the beach with the Lord. Across the sky flashed scenes from his life. For each scene, he noticed two sets of footprints in the sand; one belonging to him, and the other to the Lord.

When the last scene of his life flashed before him, he looked back at the footprints in the sand. He noticed that many times along the path of his life there was only one set of footprints. He also noticed that it happened at the very lowest and saddest times in his life.

This really bothered him and he questioned the Lord about it. "Lord, you said that once I decided to follow you, you'd walk with me all the way. But I have noticed that during the most troublesome times in my life, there is only one set of footprints, I don't understand why when I needed you most you would leave me."

The Lord replied, "My precious, precious child, I love you and I would never leave you. During your times of trial and suffering, when you see only one set of footprints, it was then that I carried you."

More Eagles Coming Up

This year, with no major changes in buildings, teachers, or curriculum, the NC Elementary School had smooth sailing ... well, as smooth as it can be with 34 students and four teachers learning together. Again this year, Mrs. Barb McHargue taught Kindergarten on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays. Mrs. Connie Barnell taught First through Third in the mornings, and First and Second in the afternoon.

Nebraska Christian Junior High Comes Into Its Own

NC hasn't always had a Junior High. Until 1970 it was only a 9-12 grade school. And even since that time, it hasn't always been clear exactly where the 7th and 8th graders fit in. Sometimes they are treated like the High Schoolers — for example while earning part of their tuition on a work job. At other times they may be as willing to participate, but not be allowed — as in speeches, drama, and having dates for banquets. They definitely have left grade school, with all the benefits of recess and not having to change classes, yet when county spelling contest comes along, they are 'grade school' again.

In all this confusion of identity, NC's Junior High has come through as their own special group — not High School, and not Grade School — with their own sports and their own activities. This year a major step was taken, showing how much NC's Junior High has grown. 7th and 8th were split into separate classrooms, with different teachers, and different courses of study.

May we introduce — the NC Junior High.

Seventh Graders Enjoy New Opportunities

As Seventh Graders, we experienced a new upbeat in the tempo of school activities. The many adjustments ncluded a variety of new teachers, finding new classrooms, and missing our recesses.

Entering the new world of Junior High offered new extracurricular opportunities such as Junior High asketball, volleyball and track; joining pep club; and becoming more actively involved in school happenings. ven our classes were new. We had never had Shop or Home Ec before.

We have begun a six-year journey, and are excited to finish this step and take the next one!

Eighth Grade — the Second Step

"It's a lot different this year. School is going a lot better for me. Seventh grade was a year of adjustment, but now I feel like I'm doing better."

A lot of us felt this way as Eighth Graders. But even though we were 'on the second step' in our NC experience, there were a lot of things about the year that were brand new. For one thing, the Seventh and Eighth Grades were divided for the first time. Now we didn't have an older, more self assured class in the room with us, and we were only fifteen instead of twenty-nine, as in the combined class last year. The two new Eighth Graders each added their own personal touch to our class as we continued together on the steps toward Christ-likeness.

The Freshman class of the 1982-83 school year at NC began with a roaring start. Meeting new demands and reaching new horizons every day, the Freshman students tackled the year with the great class of its own, By meeting such challenges as Bible I, algebra, biology and typing; the Class of '86 began to build a foundation for future years.

We have a lot of good memories from this school year — the banquets, the two class parties, and of course, the pep rally that we planned, when we showed the volleyball girls how to cream the Huskies.

Like we said, our class is very unique.

This year's Sophomore class is a very unique class. Our class has a variety of talents. We have Varsity football, volleyball, and basketball players plus track stars.

Three new kids were added to the Sophomore class. Last year's Freshmen have changed to the max! Everyone has matured a great deal since our Freshmen year. When we compare the pressures from our Freshmen year to our Sophomore year we realize that we are beginning to have a bigger influence on the student body.

Most of the Sophomores are enrolled in the same classes. Therefore we seem to think we know each other pretty well but every once in a while a new side will appear in the person that you least expect it from.

Although we all have many different ideas in mind our goal is to follow in His footsteps.

Will the Real Juniors Step Forward?

This year we have become more unified as a class and have made closer friendships. With a large percentage returning, we look back on last year as a beginning of a spurt of growth. In planning our Junior-Senior Banquet, speeches, and Major Bible Themes; we matured together in many ways. We look toward God to perfect our leadership abilities as we see our Senior year closely approaching.

Being a Junior Isn't All Fun and Games

The Juniors have had a busy year with decorating for the Junior-Senior Banquet and raising enough money to cover the finances. Many sacrifices of time, ability, and patience have gone into working at the candy store, running the concession stand, and selling magazines and Christmas cards. Magazine sales were undertaken in a rushing contest between the Juniors and the Seniors (a contest in which the Seniors were defeated.) With some of this money we paid the last amount for the popcorn machine, split between the last four Junior Classes.

Notes For All Over

Choir is an outreach ministry. The group this year is larger than ever before . . . we have forty-eight. This calls for taking a van as well as our greyhound bus. A neat opportunity this fall was a tour the choir took up into Northwestern part of Nebraska. We left on Friday, Nov. 5, at 1:00 P.M. and arrived back in Central City at 2:00 A.M. Monday morning. This gave the kids an opportunity to see new country and to personally interact with families we stayed with over night. Mr. Musgrave drove the bus and the overall summary of the weekend was "highly enjoyable, beneficial and a great idea."

February 20 was when our first tour began. Our last tour was April 24. The families of the choir members had an empty place on every other Sunday in between. Choir is an excellent chance to get to know kids better in a more casual setting as well as to be representatives of the school and to glorify God with our music. Our choir program had a variety of music for all listener's preferences. Narrations were a key factor in the last section of our program. Throughout our program we sought to lead our audience "IN HIS STEPS."

What a Combination!?!

Music theory and girl's glee were combined this year; therefore, in between practice sessions we broadened our music knowledge. There were eight of us girls and when the choir went on tour all of the eight but two were along, so we did one number in the choir program. We had a big day February 6, when we left the school at 6:00 A.M. and sang in the Auburn and Jansen churches. We as a group basically cover the smaller meetings and gatherings where the choir couldn't go. The combination singing and theory challenged us to develop our skills.

When you see Mr. Sawyer running down the sidewalk it could very well be that he's hurrying off to a voice lesson. Adding voice lessons to Mr. Sawyer's already busy schedule really keeps him running. Ten different lessons are spread over five days of the school week. The various individuals spend time working on contest pieces and perfecting their vocal qualities. We feel that as a result of voice lessons we not only benefitted from Mr. Sawyer's Vocal Knowledge but also gained a friend.

Tuning Our Lives After His

This year the NC band was one of the biggest in years. There are many underclassmen with a lot of talent. They will further develop it in the years to come. Our band played at the Advance Dinner and the Harvest Festival, and went to District Contest. Some members had the privilege of going to a couple of honor bands this year. The band has also been appreciated for playing during games to keep the spirits high. We feel it has been a great year and we have profited from it. We hope that others have too.

. . . we're so fired the Eagle fans are jumpin' out of their seats.

Involvement in cheerleading has kept six active girls VERY busy over the past sports seasons. Our 7 A.M. practice helped develop our spiritual lives as well as our cheerleading abilities. We each took turns bringing breakfast and sharing in a devotion.

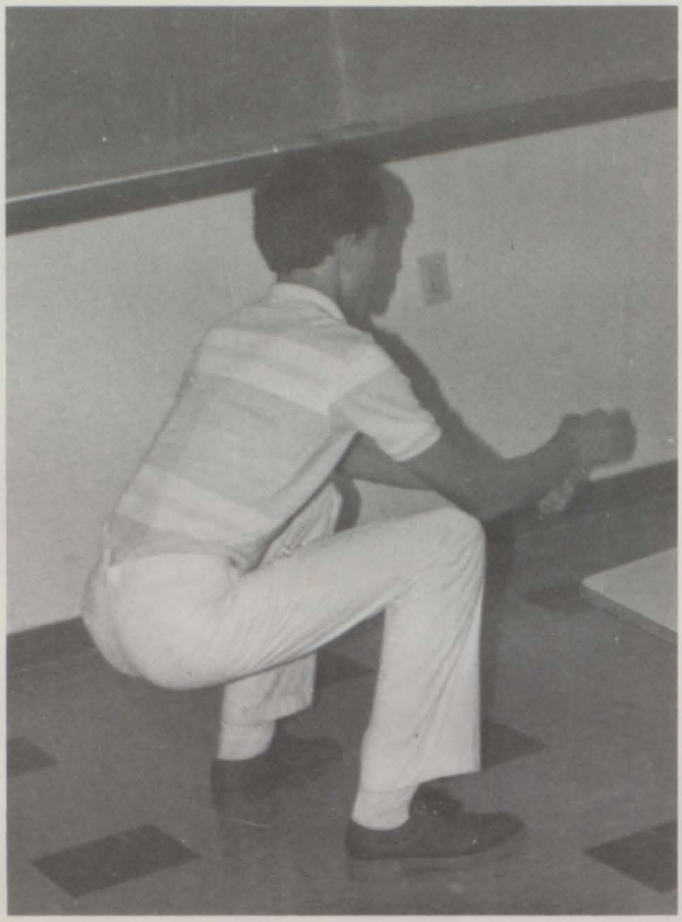
A dimension was given to our squad with the emphasis we put on mounts. Mrs. Judy Rogers with her previous experience, was a great asset in helping us with new cheers and mounts. Mrs. Schreiber, our cheerleading sponsor, was a tremendous help in organization and leadership. To help pay for various expenses, we sold donuts at home games for our dedicated Eagle fans.

To stretch six voices into fifteen voices, we organized a pepclub. The members purchased sweaters and did a great job cheering at the games.

The biggest change for the cheerleaders was getting to wear skirts to cheer in. This was a big adjustment but became well accepted.

An important verse to all of us is Prov. 15:13 a "A joyful heart makes a cheerful face . . ."

Let the words of my mouth ..... be acceptable.



Getting up the nerve to talk in front of an audience is quite a task. This is the very thing our speech and drama department does. Their speeches have entertained us at banquets, in chapel, and at our school speech contest. After much decision making, our school contest judges chose some of the students to go on to district speech contest. Others of these students acted in our school play. Some participated in contests in Elm Creek and Lexington, and a few of them had the opportunity to be in a Mock Trial March 15. It takes practice to get speeches down right and make them successful, but in the long run we all agree it's worth it.

"Deadline Daze!"

We, Diane and Kelli, as Reflector editors, were new on the scene this year. We found the work to be fun as well as a real challenge! Especially on deadline days when the post office closes at 4:30 and Miss Johnson leaves the school at 4:25 in hopes of getting the pages mailed on time. We worked a lot on Tuesday nights. Listening to Amy Grant we were able to get some real constructive work done and produced a lot of memories we won't soon forget! Our goal this year as editors was to carry the theme of "FOLLOWING HIS STEPS" throughout the yearbook and to give you as a student body a genuine concensus of the 82-83 school year.

Is this what Reflector does to you?

Being a sports editor for the Reflector is kind of an overlap of many functions. If you decide to be a sports editor you will probably find yourself behind a camera taking pictures of sporting events, working on layouts for sports pages, writing articles, developing pictures, selling ads, or whatever needs to be done. Some privileges are being in on many secrets dealing with REFLECTOR. It is what you make it and being a sports editor can be interesting and fun.

The writers of the INSIGHT seek to accomplish the goal of providing informative and interesting articles for the readers to enjoy. We like to interview the readers themselves so as to get the "public opinion" for certain articles. Keeping tabs on the sports news is also an area we cover each month. The reporters do an excellent job of interviewing and putting together articles. The work that goes into INSIGHT articles each month is worth it. Chapel time focuses our attention on Him.

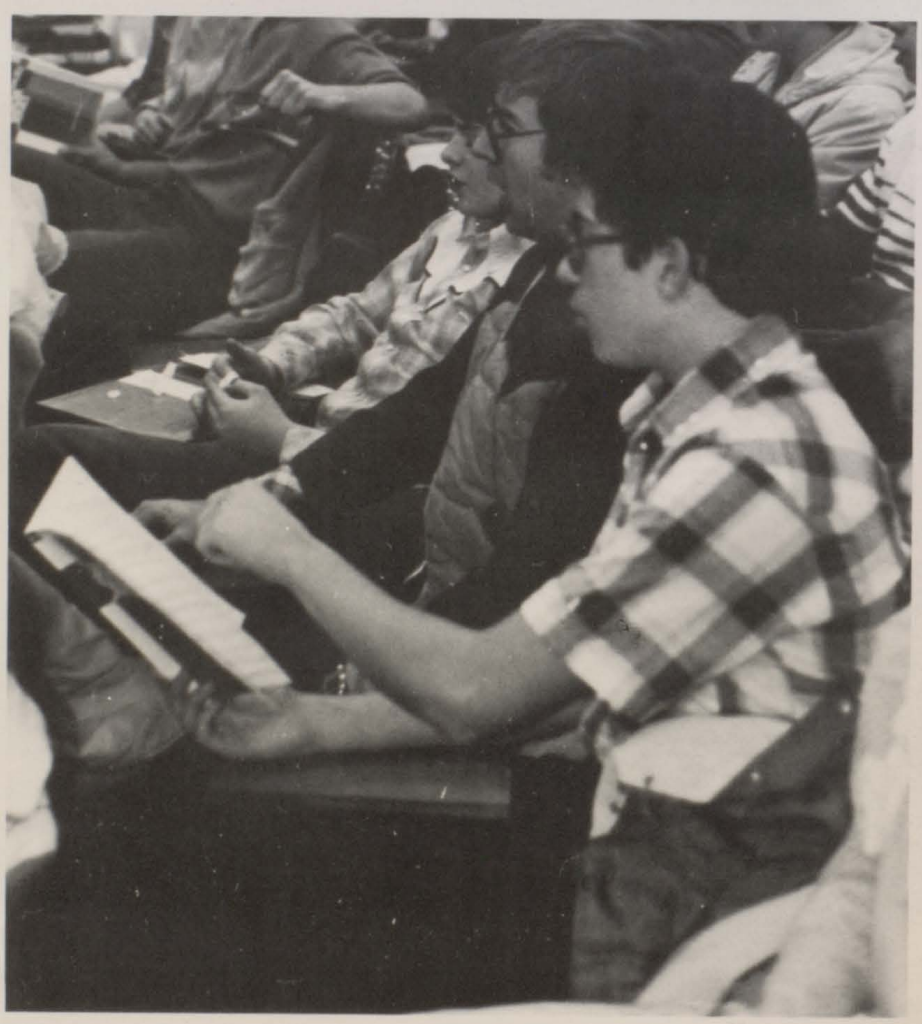
"What's for chapel?"

Each morning, Tuesday through Friday, the N. C. student body met for a half hour's time set apart from the busy school day schedule. During this time, we often had the privilege of hearing pastors from the community, singing groups from colleges, or the sharing of our own faculty members and students.

Films were another popular chapel item and many area churches shared with us the films they'd rented.

Some days "chapel" was an awards assembly, honoring students who'd excelled in academics, sports, or other activities. All of these in conclusion helped us "FOLLOW HIS STEPS."



Dale Roth

Semesters begin with Spiritual Life Meetings

The very first week of school began with three days of meetings with Pastor James Jost from Omaha. Everyone appreciated his gentle manner and honest sharing from his personal experiences as well as his exposition of the Word.

Then, in early February, Pastor Dale Roth, a missiohary on furlough from Japan, came and shared with us, in chapel, and in many classes. He not only had spiritual insight, but also a keen understanding of the culture he'd been working in. Everyone appreciated his sharing. These special meetings channel us "IN HIS STEPS."

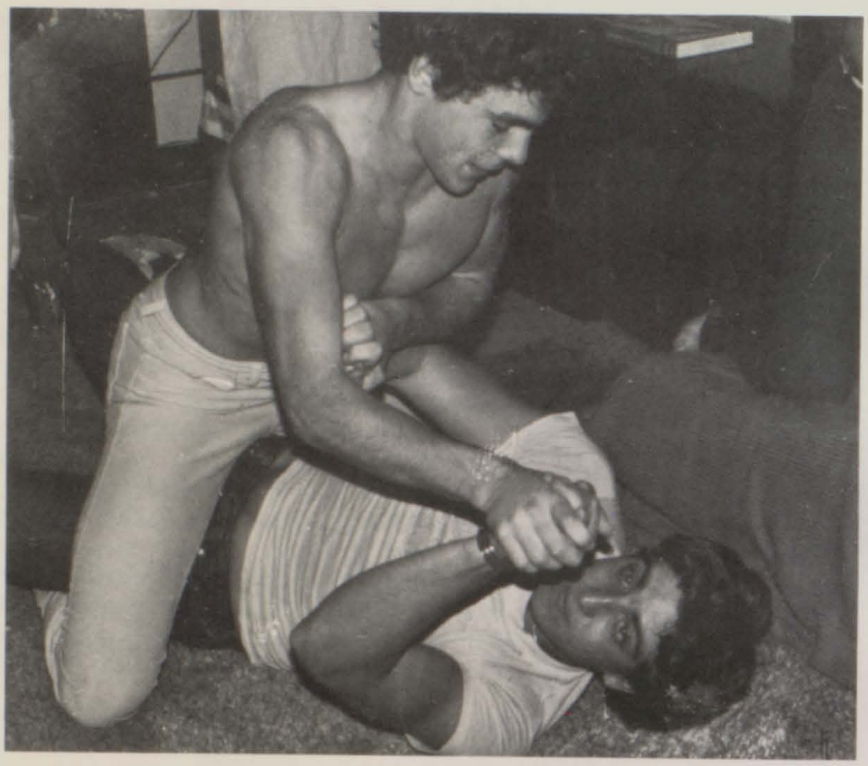
Dynamics



You can find a lot of things in NC's boy's dorm, but there's one thing you very seldom find, and that's peace and quiet . . . unless, of course, John and Mr. Hamilton are involved in a game of chess, or Rance and Zane have lollipops in their mouths, or Rod and John are too busy wrestling to talk. But then, Walt and Sue Hamilton didn't come here for peace and quiet — they came here to NC to serve the Lord as parents and examples for the 20 boys in the dorm this year. And both the Hamiltons and the boys have benefited from the arrangement and have grown together.

West Hall: Twenty-eight

Being a dorm mom wasn't new for Marilynn Ritta. She'd assisted for several years when she was single. But for Ed, who grew up with more brothers than sisters . . . well . . . it was a new experience living under the same roof with twenty-eight women. He knew lots about NC, having graduated here, but his experience DIDN'T prepare him for life in a girls dorm.

The girls enjoyed the dorm this year under the administration of the new parents. For many NC graduates some of the best memories they hold of the school are of fun times and friendships in the dorm — parties, water fights, popcorn, studies, exercises — the list is endless. And in all the bustle and activity, they learned — from the Rittas, and from each other — more about following in the steps of the Lord.

Women Under One Roof?

Photos: The Rittas, Marilynn, Ed, Bethany, and baby Katie, enjoyed the girls this year. With twenty-five extra daughters, each of whom is totally unique, life is bound to be exciting. Dorm behavior varied widely, and only a sample is represented here. Typical days included Ronda giving a haircut to Mike; Rynette (and lots of others) getting beautified, and Holly (and even MORE others) just relaxing. Weekends found Kris (and EVERYONE) packing. Some behavior was more specialized and specific, like Kathy talking on the phone, Ginger . . . well . . . whatever . . ., and Sharon and Becky demonstrating ideal dorm behavior.

Seniors

Seniors . . .

It's hard to believe OUR year has finally arrived. - 1983! Throughout the years at Nebraska Christian our teachers have shown us what it means to walk in Christ's footsteps. This enabled us to reach and achieve a position where we, also, can be examples to others. Christ's footsteps continue to lead us on towards the plan He has for our lives, but the memories will continue to echo down the corridors of our minds. We walk on for Christ but a part of us will remain here . . . Thanks N. C. for your guiding footsteps in EACH of our lives.

Volleyball Produces Unity

Varsity - the team to look up to. The suspense of the crowd was evident throughout the Jr. High and J. V. games, only to be intensified by the Varsity. Having the privilege of viewing a college volleyball game enabled the girls to put into practice some of the techniques they saw. We'll be loosing three Seniors but the younger team members will be working to follow their steps.

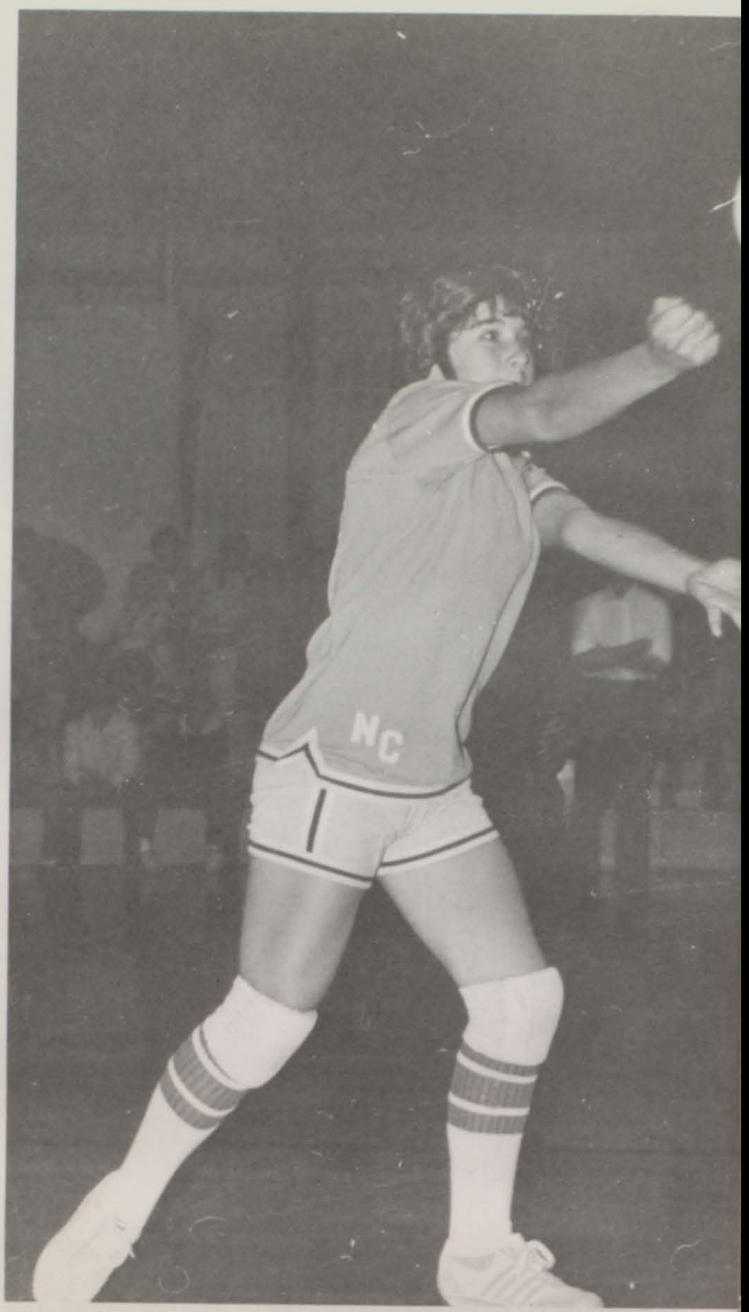
Junior Varsity Volleyball



"This Year Our Effort to do Our Best Really Paid Off."

With the enthusiasm and determination of this year's J. V. team they've established a foundation for next year. Working together they displayed real team unity. Hard practices brought out in each girl her personal desire to do her best. Thanks for your diligent work - Whoosh!

Junior High Volleyball Girls Beaten Only Once

Looking forward to more years of Eagle teamwork, the Jr. High team has worked to reach a peak in their skills. Winning all of their games but one, they completed an excellent season. Learning from the older team's example will help improve their abilities in the coming years.

Eagles End '82 Season 5 and 3

The Eagles started out the season by losing to Polk, but they came back to win three in a row. They beat Clarks, who were rated eighth in the state just two games before they played us, then lost to Silver Creek, ranked seventh in the state. They beat Wolbach, lost to Cedar Rapids, and won the last game by a large margin.

The team not only played well, but gained great unity, and should have an awesome season next year.

Five seniors contributed to the Eagle team this year, and each played an important role. Steve McHargue and Steve Munnell were the student managers, and Dave Olson, Dave Rowand, and Les Clevenger filled various positions on offense and defense.

As water boys, Paul McHargue and John Hauser were pretty essential to both teams.

JV Eagles go undefeated in '82 season

Unless a student was ineligible because of transferring from another school, he was apt to see plenty of action in both JV and Varsity games this year. There was no doubt about it — NC's team was young, and the experience the Freshmen and Sophomores gained both in JV games and in Varsity games will go a long way in shaping the team in the coming seasons.

Varsity Endures and Benefits from a Tough Season

The long hard hours of practice helped mold and improve the young Varsity team. The season may have looked discouraging record-wise, but the young team gained lots of experience. Many of them got experience as JV players too, and with the talent they began polishing through the self discipline and character they gained throughout the season, the coming years look to be promising.

JV's Boast Winning Season

The strong JV's developed a talent for pulling a small miracle out of the bag at the end of every game, but the real secret was hard work, which they did plenty of every day. A lot of the JV players spent a lot of time in the Varsity games, and kept the Varsity players working hard to keep their starting roles.

Young Eagles Play Hard

The young eagles worked hard and gained valuable experience. They weren't too tall but made up for it with quickness and plenty of heart. Besides their regular season games the young eagles also entered the Chapman Early Bird Tournament.

1983 Girls' Track

"When the Going Gets Tough . . .

The mild sunny weather that first week of March — the natural restlessness of spring that always makes a person want to get out and run — the end of a four-day break — all these helped make the first few days of track season a little more bearable; but nothing can make track an easy sport. After the muscles get over their stiffness and soreness from the beginning of the season, there's yet to come the need for steady, patient determination as initial gains and improvements level off, and days get hotter, workouts more strenuous. Even though we're working as a team, it all comes down to how much individual discipline each girl has as she looks toward the goal.

Maybe that's why the Bible compares our Christian walk to a race. We need the same kind of determination as we follow in His steps, to "keep looking unto Jesus."
